

Workshop

Corporatism and “Functional Representation”. Diffusion and Models between Authoritarianism and Democracy

Organizer: António Costa Pinto (ICS-ULisboa)

January 26, 2018

9h – 18h

Room 1 - ICS-ULisboa

9h

Opening Remarks and Chair: António Costa Pinto, ICS-University of Lisbon

António Costa Pinto, ICS-University of Lisbon
“Corporatism and Authoritarianism in Latin America. The first wave”

Luciano Aronne de Abreu, PUC of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil
“Another Corporatism in Portuguese: Political and Ideological debates in Brazil”

10-30 - Coffee Break

11h

Chair: José Luís Cardoso, ICS-University of Lisbon

Joachim Lund, Department of Business and Politics, Copenhagen Business School
“Seeing the State as a business enterprise. Technocratic ideas and the quest for political power in the Danish business elite, 1933-1945”

Valerio Torregiani, IHC-Nova University, Lisbon
“Theorizing Functional Representation in Britain: Evidences from the History of Ideas”

Stefan Couperus, University of Groningen
“From ‘Functional Demos’ to ‘Expert Technos’: Institutionalising State-Society Relations in Interwar Democracies in Europe”

13h - Lunch

14h 15

Chair: Paula Borges Santos, IHC-Nova University

Goffredo Adinolfi, CIES-Lisbon University Institute
“Fascist Italy and the Challenge of Corporatist Representation: from the crisis of Liberalism to the organic state”

Carlos Martins, ICS, University of Lisbon
“The corporatist state that never came: British Fascism, Mosley and Raven Thompson”

15.30 - Coffee Break

16h

Chair: Annarita Gori, ICS-University of Lisbon

José Reis Santos, IHC-Nova University, Lisbon
“Salazar’ Estado Novo diffusion mechanisms in peripheral Europe”

Rita Almeida de Carvalho, ICS, University of Lisbon
“The web and flow of interwar authoritarian politics: the case of Salazar's library”