

Diadorim – Journal of Linguistic and Literary Studies

Call for papers

Dear Colleagues:

Diadorim is currently seeking submissions for volume 21, special issue, in English, scheduled to be published in November 2019.

This is a non-themed issue, produced within the framework of the international cooperation project “Voices and writings in the different spaces of the Portuguese language”, developed by Postgraduate Program in Vernacular Letters at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, under the auspices of CAPES-PrInt.

Contributors may be professors or researchers linked to any university or research center in Brazil or abroad.

Article manuscripts on Portuguese language, African literatures, Brazilian literature and Portuguese literature are welcome.

Submissions should be made in English, until August 31, 2019, via the link <https://revistas.ufrj.br/index.php/diadorim>. Instructions to authors are also available.

Regards,

Chief Editor

Eliete Figueira Batista da Silveira

Adjunct Editors
